Report on Henry A Brown's
Hazel Mountain land within Park area

In Mr Brown's answer, he claims a total of 550 acres on Hazel Mountain. He claims 500 acres in one tract, when the deed conveying said tract calls indefinitely either 300 or 400 acres. This claim is purely a guess as there is no recorded survey of this tract, and 300 or 400 acres may be as wrong as Mr Brown's guess of 500 acres. The description of this variously estimated "Burke Tract" is contained in a Will from which the following is taken: (1) "I will and bequeath x x x part of my home place bounded on the north by the fence running north of the house by the stable straight through to the ridge - all the land south of said fence to be divided equally between said grandchildren. (2) I will and bequeath x x x the land north of and below said fence at the stable down to the fence at the still house, running up the back line with the land of Nathan Jenkinson. (3) I will and bequeath unto my beloved son, James M. Dodson, all the land below the fence at the still house and the sandy bottom road." It will be observed that Nathan Jenkinson line forms the boundary line of this Burke Tract on the west and the Sandy Bottom Road forms its boundary on the east.

Now, the Nathan Jenkins line were readily located by ties. For example at X where Road crosses Run - the remaining lines being taken from a survey. In the second place the eastern boundary line of the "Burke Tract" was already located by the Sandy Bottom or Rolling Road. The Southern lines of the Burke Tract were actually surveyed under the guidance of Mr Brown and Mr Burke, a former owner of the tract. The northern lines of the "Burke Tract" is a stream and a road already located on map by U.S. Engineer, and the remaining part of said northern line (the Jany H. Dodson tract) was located by a definite survey tied to a definitely located road. Mr Brown and Mr Burke were both present when his combined "Burke Tract" and U.S. Government tract of 125 reported acres were surveyed out and tied to already surveyed streams and roads. There were found to be 374 acres in this boundary, altho the deed for the two tracts total $(300 + 125) = 425$, 51 acres short. Nothing unusual when the acreage of the larger tract was simply guessed at.

Summary

In conclusion, it is the contention of your orator that under the circumstances, with all of the available data in hand, and guided by the present and former owner of the particular tract of land that a reasonably complete survey was made of this land.

I would call your attention to the fact that natural objects such as streams and old well marked roads constitute one-half of the boundary lines of this tract. Closed boundary surveys definitely tied to these same streams and roads constitute one-fourth of said boundary lines, and the remaining one-fourth of said boundary lines were actually surveyed, with both the present and former owner of the land assisting. I can't see where anything more can be done to establish the bounds of these two combined tracts than has already been done.
