

Corn v Jennie Shippell

This day came again the attorney for the Commonwealth, and the said Jennie Shifflett came in the custody of the jailer, and thereupon, on the motion of the said Jennie Shifflett and for reasons appearing to the Court it is ordered that the judgment of the Court entered at a former day of the Court by which the said Jennie Shippell was sentenced to jail, or to the State Court was void, for a term of five months be modified so as to make her term three months, the said judgment standing firm and stable in all other respects.

Dear Mr. [illegible]

This copy came again to [illegible]
for the [illegible] and the [illegible]
[illegible] in the [illegible] up the [illegible]
[illegible] in the [illegible] of the [illegible]
[illegible] and for [illegible] [illegible]
is [illegible] that the [illegible] of the [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] of the [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

EX
7/23/24